Established at the University of Southern California in 1999 as part of the University's urban initiative, the Center for Urban Education (CUE) leads socially conscious research and develops tools needed for institutions of higher education to produce equity in student outcomes. CUE's research team pioneered a multi-disciplined inquiry approach that is helping higher education institutions across the country become more accountable to students from underserved racial and ethnic communities. CUE publishes reports and papers on a range of topics related to equity and accountability, the transformation of institutional data into useable knowledge, and the role of faculty and administrators in organizational change. CUE is dedicated to conducting research that makes a difference. Our areas of expertise are organizational learning, practitioner learning and professional development, and performance accountability.
