If seats are available, please move to a table based on a session you attended this week that was especially powerful within a specific topic area below:

- Pathways
- Equity
- AB 750
- Use of Data
- Professional Development
- Not interested in being recorded

Rear seating: OTHER TOPICS
INTERVIEWER ROLE, PART 1

1. Explain briefly to the “audience” where we are and what we are doing and why we are doing it

2. Ask each person at the table to describe a session they attended that made a great impact on them at this session. Then ask for their top 2-3 takeaways from the session

3. Repeat for each person at the table

INTERVIEWER ROLE, if time permits

Ask the table (in your own words): What can we share with colleagues who didn’t attend the conference about this topic? What are the big issues, needs, and opportunities here?
What is the possible value of podcasting in community college professional development?

Instead of thinking about the world through headline news stories, think about it through the experiences that people have living in these different communities.

Sample Ways to Integrate Podcasts in the Classroom

• Students interview relatives about their life histories, and then combine the audio interview with family photos in a video project.
• Students write a radio drama based on a historical event and record their show.
• Students learn about a different country by interviewing a recent traveler. They record the interview and then create a digital travel album.
• Students create a faux advertising campaign to convince immigrants to settle the new American colonies.
• Students use audio recording to interview sources for articles for a class newspaper.
• Students write and record short stories and add music and sound effects.
• Teacher records a tutorial that students listen to on their own.
• Present student writing through a class radio drama or a poetry slam.
• Teacher records and broadcasts group discussions.
• Teachers might record students reading a story as a fluency assessment, or as a foreign language pronunciation activity.
• On a field trip, students use an iPod with a voice recorder to take notes and a digital camera to take photos. They then create a guided tour in iMovie.

INTERVIEWER ROLE

Ask the table: what, if anything, excites you about the possibility of podcasting for professional development?
"Podcast" is a portmanteau word, formed by combining "iPod" and "broadcast." The term "podcasting" was first used by columnist and Ben Hammersley in February 2004 in The Guardian newspaper.
